INTERNATIONAL SITUATION

(By The Associated Press.)
German's counter-proposals to the peace terms will be presented to the peace conference by Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau tomorrow, according to Paris advices.
It is expected that the reply of the enemy representatives will be voluminous. Dispatches seem to reflect quite a sharp division of sentiment among the Germans as to whether the treaty should be signed.
It was announced last week that the Austrian terms would be considered at a plenary session of the peace conference today. Since then delays have been occasioned by the difficulty of framing the section of the treaty dealing with reparations. A portion of the terms, however, may be ready for presentation before the end of the present week.
While there have been rumors that the Russian government at Omsk, headed by Admiral Kolchak, is to receive recognition from the allies, there has as yet been no confirmation of these reports. It is indicated there are certain guarantees demanded as a condition to the recognition of the Omsk regime.

BELGIUM'S SPOKESMAN AT PEACE CONGRESS

VAN DEN HEUVEL
With Belgium's claim to the left bank of the Scheldt and a portion of Dutch Limburg before the peace congress, Van den Heuvel, minister of state for Belgium and one of the peace delegates has his chance to display his skill in statecraft.

world to this new expression is, we may perhaps pride ourselves, a response to an American suggestion.

Owing World a Peculiar Service.
"If that is true we owe the world a peculiar service. If we originated great practices we must ourselves be worthy of them. I remember not long ago attending a very interesting meeting which was held in the interest of combining Christian missionary effort throughout the world; I mean eliminating the rivalry between churches and agreeing that Christian missionaries should not represent this, that or the other church, but represent the general Christian impulse and principle of the world. I said I was thoroughly in sympathy with the principle, but that I hoped that if it was adopted the inhabitants of the heathen countries would not come to look at us because we were not ourselves united, but divided, that while we were asking them to unite, we ourselves did not set the example."

"My moral from that recollection is this: We, among other friends of liberty, are asking the world to unite in the interest of brotherhood and mutual service and the general advancement of individual and corporate liberty throughout the world; there for we must set the example.

Greatest Thing in Politics
"No greater thing has ever happened in the political world than that, and I am particularly gratified tonight to think of the hours I have had the pleasure of spending with Mr. Pessoa as a member, along with him, of the commission on the league of nations which prepared the covenant which was submitted to the conference. I have felt as I looked down the table and caught his eye that we had the same American mind in regard to the business, and when I made suggestions or used arguments that I felt were characteristically American, I would always catch sympathy in his eyes."

NC-4 AT END OF FLIGHT

First Voyage by Air Is Made by the Americans.

PONTA DELGADA, May 27, by the Associated Press, (8:25 p. m.)—The navy seaplane NC-4 has arrived at Lisbon, according to official advices received here.

PONTA DELGADA, May 27.—(By The Associated Press.)—With Commander A. C. Read confident that he would reach the coast of Portugal before darkness tonight, thus achieving the coveted honor of making the first trans-Atlantic flight, United States seaplane NC-4 started for Lisbon this morning at 10:18 o'clock Greenwich time, or 8:18 a. m. New York time.

The crew of the seaplane which was the same as that which made the memorable flight from New Foundland to the Azores, boarded the plane an hour before sunrise, but it was not until several hours later that the giant machine taxied outside the breakwater, headed to windward and rose gracefully into the air. She circled the harbor and then headed for her destination amid cheers from the sailors and soldiers who lined the decks of the ships in the harbor and the crowd on the shore, together with the shrieks of whistles from all the steam craft within sight.

The din of the salute was kept up for several moments, the plane meanwhile sped on her way, slowly disappearing in the bright eastern sky.

The weather was almost perfect this morning with the warm spring sun shining brightly on the waters of the bay. There were but few clouds in the sky and only a slight northwest wind was blowing, which was favorable to the flyers. Weather experts predicted that the plane might encounter cloudy weather and possibly occasional squalls mid-way off the coast, but this was not expected to interfere with her progress.

Lieutenant-Commander Read intends to remain in Lisbon overnight and start for Plymouth, England, tomorrow morning, weather permitting.

The course between here and Portugal is marked by fourteen American destroyers, stretched out along the route to guide the flyers and if necessary give them assistance.

PONTA DELGADA, May 27.—The American seaplane NC-4 started for Lisbon at 10:18 o'clock this morning, Greenwich time, (6:18 New York time). The weather is clear.

Station ship No. 2, fifty miles further eastward, reported the NC-4 had passed at 11:35 Greenwich time (7:35 Washington time, Rear Admiral Jackson reported.

The NC-4 passed station ship No. 4 approximately 200 miles out of Ponta Delgada at 12:54 Greenwich time (8:54 a. m. Washington time).
